your data report will contain an overview of your account and log-in information, order overview, personalisation preferences, and liked items. it also includes information about data retention periods and third-party sharing.

what if my data file failed to download?

if your download link is valid but failed to download, it could be due to a network issue, a problem with your browser, or an issue on the server side. in such cases, check your internet connection or try opening it using a different device or browser. if that is unsuccessful, please submit a new request.

what format will my data come in?

can i use my zalando account in another country?

yes, you can use your zalando account in another country. just use your existing login details to access a different country's zalando shop, and add a new billing/shipping address located in the country you're shopping from.

how can i better protect my account?

the easiest way to protect your account is by choosing a strong password. here are a few recommendations:

make it long. using long passwords is critical to password strength. an 8-character password will take anywhere from a few minutes to a few weeks to crack while a 16-character password will take a minimum of 34.000 years to crack.

use lower and upper case letters, numbers, and special characters. the password 'howstrong' would take 2 minutes to crack while it would take 3 weeks for attackers to crack the password 'h0wstr0!g'.

do not reuse passwords. reusing the same password for multiple accounts is dangerous as it makes you vulnerable to credential stuffing attacks, which take leaked credentials from one site/service and use them on other sites/services. it's as if you had multiple houses and used the same lock and key for all of them.

do not include words related to your personal information in your passwords as it would give an advantage to attackers.

use a password manager. a password manager is an application that helps you create, store, and manage unique passwords. it is the easiest and most secure way to accomplish this.

if you have any questions or concerns about data protection please contact our privacy team: datenschutz@zalando.de you can also contact our data protection officer directly in the following postal address indicating that it is "to the attention of data protection officer":

how does zalando protect my account?

we know that security and protection are important to our customers, therefore we continuously improve our security measures. our website is equipped with protection mechanisms like two factor authorisation to ensure that any data you provide is secure and cannot be accessed by unauthorised parties. we monitor account activity for suspicious behaviour and will alert you if we detect anything out of the ordinary.

you may be asked from time to time to verify your account with a code or logging in again.

what should i do if i see unauthorised activity in my account?

if you believe that your account was misused, please contact our customer care team using one of the contact buttons below so that we can deactivate the account and prevent further misuse. our specialists will advise you on any further steps.

what should i know about phishing emails?

unfortunately, email scams are a serious issue that sometimes affects us too. known as 'phishing attacks', in these emails fraudsters impersonate trusted entities, often using elements like a company logo and a familiar layout to deceive users into sharing sensitive information or taking harmful actions. these may for example take the form of fake order confirmation and payment reminder emails.

please never visit any links or open any attached files in any emails that look suspicious.

things to look out for:

spelling errors or grammar inconsistencies: these emails are typically auto-generated or poorly translated.

the sender's address. it should match the domain of the company or entity they claim to represent.

how they address you: for instance, at zalando, we always use your name (e.g 'hello juan'). if it simply says "dear user/client," be suspicious!

in addition, before clicking on any links to share any information, you can log in into the official app or website of the company or service they claim to be from and check for notifications there first.

do you suspect scammers may have got a hold of your personal details?

we recommend that you change your password as soon as possible. to do this, go to 'change contact data'. please also check your access details to other important accounts (e.g. online banking) and change these if necessary.

if you have any other questions about email phishing, get in contact with us and we will be glad to help out.

why is my web provider recommending that i change my password?

according to our privacy notice, your credentials are secured on our website and zalando will never use them for any purpose.

if google recommends changing your password on our website, this is not related to a zalando specific data breach. this is a google chrome feature that verifies if the password for all websites you log in to has been part of any known breach.

when you logged-in to our website, google chrome possibly noticed the password or username you used are potentially exposed in one of the known data breaches.

please visit google security blog for more information.

what does it mean that my email/password is on a list of public data breaches?

if we notified you that your registration or login data is on a list of public data breaches, this means that the email/password you entered has been leaked on websites outside of zalando. in this case, we strongly advise that you change your password on all websites where you use the same set of username and password as a precautionary measure.

what should i know about the newsletter?

when you subscribe to our newsletter you will get updates on all the latest trends and fashion twice a week. every tuesday you will receive a newsletter supplement featuring a special topic on style. you will also be the first to know about new products, discounts, and promotions to take advantage of our latest offers and services.

you can subscribe to our newsletter under 'newsletters' in your account.

how can i unsubscribe from the newsletter?

please note:

before you unsubscribe, please make sure that you do not mark these emails as spam, as this may also block the delivery of other important emails from zalando (order confirmation, etc).

what are zalando's accessibility functionalities?

we are committed to providing the best possible experience for all our customers. that's why we are actively working to make our website accessible and easy to use for everyone.

our commitment to accessibility at zalando, accessibility is a core part of our mission. we believe that everyone should have equitable access to fashion and a seamless online shopping experience. to achieve this, we have integrated accessibility into our internal policies and development processes, ensuring that it remains a priority.

our accessibility approach & process our approach to accessibility is holistic and integrated into every stage of our operations, from product development to quality assurance. we follow a 'shift-left' approach, meaning that accessibility is a foundational requirement from the very beginning of the design and development process, not an afterthought.

our teams are continuously trained on accessibility best practices and are equipped to ensure that inclusive design is a priority. we have also set up a monitoring strategy, including both self-assessments and external audits, to regularly test our services and validate our progress.

zalando is dedicated to meeting and exceeding accessibility standards. we are actively working toward compliance with the web content accessibility guidelines (wcag) 2.2 level aa and the en 301 549 european standard, in accordance with the european accessibility act (eaa) and respective national implementation.

currently, the zalando website is partially compliant with the aforementioned standards. this means that while most of our content and main features are accessible, some parts do not yet fully comply with the standard.

what is already accessible we have focused on making the most important parts of the shopping journey accessible. our main user journeys, including browsing products, searching for items, adding to cart, and checking out, are accessible to users who rely on screen readers and keyboard navigation.

additionally, we have implemented descriptive alt text for all non-decorative images across our website, ensuring that users with screen readers can understand the visual content.

we have also made most of our interactive components, such as product carousels, pop-up modals, and drop-down menus, accessible to ensure they can be used with assistive technologies and keyboard navigation.

areas for improvement

we are actively working to address remaining accessibility barriers to provide a fully accessible shopping experience. some of the areas we are currently improving include:

error handling and user feedback: we're enhancing form usability by ensuring all fields have proper labels and providing clear, text-based error messages. these messages are programmatically linked to their corresponding fields, making it easy for users with assistive technologies to identify and correct errors.

semantic structure and navigation: we are committed to improving our website's overall structure. we're implementing a logical and consistent heading structure (h1, h2, etc.) across all pages to aid screen reader navigation and improve content comprehension for all users. we are also adding "skip to content" links that become visible upon keyboard focus, allowing users to bypass repetitive navigation elements.

sufficient contrast: beyond just text, we are improving the color contrast of non-text elements such as icons, buttons, and other graphical components. this ensures users with low vision or color vision deficiencies can easily perceive and interact with key parts of the interface.

keyboard and focus management: we are enhancing keyboard navigation for all interactive components to ensure a clear and visible focus indicator.

user preferences: we are developing support for dynamic text, landscape and a dark mode feature to give users more control over their visual settings.

video content: we're actively working to improve the accessibility of our video content. this includes adding captions and audio descriptions for all videos and providing playback controls (play/pause) for all animated content and videos, giving users control over their experience.

zalando's web accessibility relies on the following technologies, which are necessary for full compliance with our target accessibility standards:

html

wai-aria

we recommend using modern browsers like google chrome, safari, or edge for the best experience with assistive technologies such as nvda, voiceover, and talkback.

we welcome your feedback and appreciate you helping us improve. if you encounter an accessibility issue or have suggestions, please contact our support team.

we are committed to addressing your concerns promptly. thank you for helping us make zalando more accessible for everyone.

what can the zalando assistant help me with?

you can ask the assistant anything related to fashion. it can help you find the right products on zalando that you'll love, as well as provide advice on fashion questions. just let it know what you're looking for or what you need help with with a casual two-sided conversation.

you can open the zalando assistant from the homepage, the catalogue, or the product detail page by clicking the zalando assistant icon. the assistant is integrated with a publicly available api interface from openai (the creator of chatgpt).

when you ask the zalando assistant a question, it forwards this and previous questions and answers to openai, which then decides on next actions (e.g. asking a clarification question or suggesting an internal api call such as product search or recommendations). following our prompting instructions, the genai technology from openai will analyse your questions and reformulate your input in a way that zalando can provide fitting product recommendations based on your questions by calling internal apis. the zalando assistant also takes into account where you are on the zalando platform and provides tailored conversation starters accordingly. for instance, if a customer is browsing the denim section for women and opens the zalando assistant, it will acknowledge this with prompts like, "i see you are interested in women's jeans" and suggest relevant queries such as "show me flared jeans". to make your product discovery easier, zalando assistant recommends products that best match your previous behaviour on the zalando platform. you can access your last chat in the assistant for 20 minutes after the chat ended. after this you can always start a new chat by clicking on the fashion assistant icon again.

can i also talk to a human to get advice?

the zalando assistant is not supported by a human advisor. it is meant to be a machine learning-based advisor which uses data and algorithms to provide guidance in fashion. in case you have order specific questions, please reach out to our customer service.

if the zalando assistant is not human, then how does the assistant make an assessment?

the assistant relies on your questions and conversations, the place on the zalando platform where you started the zalando assistant, your previous behaviour on the zalando platform as well as openai's special abilities to provide appropriate answers and produce suitable recommendations for your needs.

how do you ensure that answers are fair and correct?

the zalando assistant responds specifically to the content of your request, following zalando's clear, neutral instructions to openai. it is designed to provide safe responses and to focus exclusively on topics within the fashion domain. additionally, a malicious intent classifier is in place to prevent the assistant from responding to potentially unsafe questions (for example, queries about harmful activities such as building a bomb). however, please note that ai-generated answers can sometimes be subjective, inaccurate, or influenced by biases. for more information about the underlying openai model, please refer to openai's policies at https://openai.com/policies.

you can get back to your previous chat by clicking on the assistant icon on the same device. however, it will only be available for 20 minutes after you wrote your last chat message.

the zalando assistant utilises the information you provide within the chat and shares it with openai in order to generate the most suitable answers to your questions. however, openai will not have access to your zalando customer account data and will not use your chat to train their model.

who can i contact in case i experience problems?

if you experience any problems, please contact our customer support team.

what if an item is out of stock?

if an item you want is out of stock, you can register to be notified via email when it is available again.

if the item is available again within the next 3 months, we'll send you an automatic email to let you know.

please note:

this email does not reserve the item, so if you're still interested then it's best to act quickly in case it sells out again.

we're sorry if you've received an item you did not order.

our returns process is simple. you can make a free return within 30 days of delivery for a refund.

if you still want the article, just go ahead and place a new order. if you have already paid for the item, you will receive a refund within 14 days of the return being handed over to the carrier.

limited items are particularly desirable items that are only available in small quantities.

why can't i add this item to my bag?

we have a dedicated checkout for our most desirable or limited items, so the 'add to bag' button is replaced with 'buy now' to help you purchase your item more quickly!

why can't i purchase this item?

we want to ensure that limited items (particularly desirable items that are only available in small quantities, for example) are available for our customers to order. for this reason, these items are protected by various technical security measures against being ordered, for example, by automated systems or commercially acting persons. unfortunately, it cannot be ruled out that individual customers will not be able to complete the ordering process even though the security measures are not intended for them.

how do i sign up for an invitation?

when you click on the item, you'll see a button that says 'sign up for an invite.' make sure you select a colour and size before you sign up.

i got an invitation! now what?

congratulations! now you can use the invitation to buy the item you wanted. click 'shop now' in the email with your invite and go ahead and buy it. remember, you can't change the colour or size of the item at this stage.

invitations are typically valid for 2 hours from the time you have received them in your inbox. the validity of the invitation is clearly stated in the email with your invitation.

why haven't i received an invitation yet?

invites are typically limited as these items are in high demand. once you've signed up for an invitation, you'll be in the running to get an invite for the next 7 days after the product's official release date. invites are only sent out after the release date has been reached. if you don't get an invitation by then or the following next 7 days, we're sorry but you'll have to sign up for an invitation again when the item is back in stock.

how do i know if an item is invite-only?

you will know when an item is invite-only when you see the 'add to bag' button has been replaced with 'sign up for an invite.' invite only items are typically in high demand and have limited stock availability.

can i return invite-only items?

yes, you can return invite-only items.

can i change the size or colour after i've signed up for an invite?

unfortunately, you cannot change the colour and size you picked after you have signed up for an invitation.

can i sign up for multiple invitations?

unfortunately, you can sign up for an invitation to buy an item only once. we will only consider your most recent sign-up. however, once 7 days have passed and you did not receive an invitation, you can sign up for another invitation if the product is still available.

what advantages do plus members have to get invite only items?

we reserve dedicated stock of invite-only items for plus members, so they're more likely to get an invite.

buying pre-owned items on zalando

pre-owned items are unique items that somebody has owned before. all our pre-owned items are quality branded goods in like-new condition, true to the motto 'second hand, first choice'. thanks to our double quality check, we only sell items with barely any signs of use and in a like-new condition. keep in mind that pre-owned items are single items and they usually only exist in one size.

all pre-owned items are sold by 'zalando recommerce', a zalando brand. there are no customer-to-customer sales at zalando. however, you have the possibility to sell your pre-owned items at zalando.

why is my pre-owned item no longer available?

each pre-owned item at zalando is unique and only exists in one size. if you fall in love with a pre-owned item you need to move fast.

how do i know if i ordered a pre-owned item?

all pre-owned products are marked "pre-owned". on the product page of the item, you'll see 'sold by zalando recommerce'. you will also see this note in your user account after you've purchased the item.

are the pre-owned items checked for authenticity?

yes. each item passes several times through the trained hands of our quality control and photo production team, who keep a special eye on the authenticity of our pre-owned treasures. despite our extensive testing, we cannot guarantee that 100% of all items are genuine. as soon as we suspect that an item might not be authentic, we remove it from our assortment. if you receive an item that you are not sure is authentic, our customer service team will be happy to help you.

our 30-day free returns policy also applies to pre-owned items purchased at zalando. please note that the returned items must be in the same condition that you received them in. it's important that you do not use or wear the items except for trying them on.

exchange of pre-owned items is unfortunately not possible because these items often are single items.

our 30-day free returns policy also applies to second hand items purchased at zalando. please note that the returned items must be in the same condition as you received them in.

please generate a return code or return label through your account to make sure your return is free and sent to the right address.

how to make a return:

pack your items in the original package and generate a return code to send back your items. make sure to cover up or remove the original delivery barcode on the box.

drop off your parcel at a dhl or hermes location of your choice.

keep your receipt from the courier until your refund has been processed.

receive your refund within 14 days after you handed over the return parcel to the carrier.

how can i sell my items to zalando?

to sell items you've bought from us, go to "sell back items" in your account and follow these steps:

select your items: choose up to 20 lightly worn items. we'll let you know right away how much each item is worth. the maximum value for a single sell box is 200€.

submit your items: you'll receive an email with your free shipping label. alternatively, you can download the label directly from your account.

ship your sell box: pack your items into a durable box. make sure every item is like-new, clean, and dry. then, simply drop off your box with dhl.

important shipping rules to ensure we can process your items and issue your payout quickly, please keep these rules in mind:

one parcel per sell box: do not split your items into multiple parcels. we cannot process items that arrive in a separate box, and these will be donated to our charity partner.

use our label only: our labels are digitally linked to your specific sell box and can only be used once. if you use a different label, we won't be able to identify your items or issue your payout.

once we receive your box, we'll quality-check every item. this usually takes up to 28 days. you'll find your gift card code in your emails and under "sell back items" in your account.

you can find more details on selling items back to us in our terms and conditions for the sale of pre-owned fashion.

2.6. if the condition of the item does not meet the requirements of the conditions of the pre-owned fashion option, zalando will send you a rejection of the purchase offer by email. in this case no purchase contract is concluded. at your choice, the pre-owned fashion item will be returned to you free of charge or donated to charity. if you do not reply to the reminder emails within seven days of receiving the rejection communication, the item will be donated to a charity.

2.7. you can receive the purchase price in the form of a digital zalando gift card, or you can waive the right to receive a consideration to a good cause. this selection must be made during the selling process and cannot be changed afterwards.

2.7.1 if you choose the option of receiving a digital gift card, zalando will provide the gift card by email and in your customer account. zalando reserves the right to change the modalities of provision in the future, but will inform you in advance. the gift card can be redeemed at zalando.de, is transferable and is valid for five years. further conditions can be found in the gift card terms and conditions. your entitlement to payment is fulfilled as soon as the gift card is issued.

2.7.2 if you waive your right to receive a compensation, zalando will donate the full purchase amount for all confirmed items to the charitable organisation communicated to you during the purchase process. in this case, you will not be entitled to claim a gift card.

2.8. unsolicited items cannot be processed or returned. if you wish to sell additional items to zalando after the submission of the sell box, please start a new selling process and do not include such items in the sell box that has already been submitted.

3. obligations of the user

4. liability

4.1. in the event of slight negligence, zalando is only liable for the violation of essential contractual obligations, the violation of life, limb or health or in the context of the product liability act. essential contractual obligations are those whose fulfillment is necessary to achieve the objective of the contract. in the event of a breach of essential contractual obligations, liability is limited to the foreseeable damage typical for the contract, provided that this is not purely financial loss and is not based on injury to life, limb or health.

4.2 this limitation of liability also applies to the personal liability of employees, representatives and agents of zalando. statutory liability provisions remain otherwise unaffected.

5. information for consumers

5.1. agreements on www.zalando.de are made in german or english. you can choose your preferred language by using the language selector at the top of the website or by going to my account in the mobile app.

5.3. you can also easily archive these terms as well as the data of your transaction by either downloading the conditions and saving the data summarized on the last page of the sale process using the functions of your browser.

5.4. you will also receive a transaction confirmation e-mail, which contains the details of your transaction and can be easily printed or saved with your e-mail program.

5.5. it is our goal to always reach an amicable solution with our customers. should disagreements arise, check the help & contact page and reach out to us directly to find a solution. please note that we are neither obliged nor willing to participate in dispute resolution proceedings before a consumer arbitration board.

6. final provisions

6.1. zalando reserves the right to change these terms and conditions at any time, unless such amendment results in a material change to the overall contract structure.

6.2. zalando is also entitled to adapt or supplement these terms and conditions if this is necessary to eliminate difficulties in the implementation of contractual relationships or due to regulatory gaps. the changed conditions will be communicated to users at least four weeks before they come into effect.

6.3. the changes are deemed to have been accepted unless the user objects to them within four weeks of receiving the notification of the change. zalando will specifically point out the possibility of objection and the importance of the four-week period in the change notice. if the user objects, the amended terms will not apply; the original terms and conditions will remain unchanged and in effect, and the right to terminate the contractual relationship remains unaffected.

6.4. these terms and conditions are subject to the law of the federal republic of germany to the exclusion of the united nations convention on contracts for the international sale of goods (cisg). the place of jurisdiction for consumers is the place of residence of the consumer.

6.5. should any provision of these terms and conditions be or become partially or completely invalid, the validity of the remaining provisions will not be affected. the respectively applicable statutory provisions take the place of ineffective provisions. if no statutory provision exists or would lead to an unreasonable outcome, the parties will negotiate a valid provision that best approximates the intended purpose.

important tips for redeeming a gift card use a gift card for your order at zalando a gift card allows you to pay while ordering at zalando or add it to your gift card total under "my gift card total". you can then use it at any time when you next order.

use as many zalando gift cards together as you like, with a total maximum amount of €200,00. the maximum value of gift cards that can be used per calendar month is limited to €5,000. the maximum value of gift cards that can be connected to your customer account per calendar month is limited to €5,000.

gift cards have no minimum order size and are valid until their total is used, within five years of the initial purchase of the gift card.

enter the gift card code redeem your gift card during checkout or add the amount to your gift card total ready to use whenever you place an order.

you can only enter the gift card once and it is then added to your gift card total and can be used.

did you forget to enter the gift card code?

no problem! for a limited time, you will be able to cancel your order and easily order again using the code.

enter the code in the field provided. doesn't work?

please take care to avoid including any extra spaces.

refund of gift cards

unfortunately, it is not possible to exchange a gift card for cash.

if you return items to us, where the gift card total was applied to, we will refund the amount back to your gift card total, which you may use right away on your next order

how to redeem a gift card there are two ways to redeem your zalando gift card:

as gift card total:

enter your gift card's code in the menu item 'my gift card total' and click on 'redeem gift card'. the amount will be added to your gift card total and you can redeem it when placing your next order.

your gift card total can now be used for fashion items (excluding e.g. beauty products and electronics) which are offered by zalando se or other sellers on the website within the next five years after the initial purchase.

at checkout:

you can also enter your gift card code in the "add a voucher/gift card" field that appears at checkout. don't forget to confirm by clicking on the button 'redeem'. the gift card amount is then applied for all eligible items to the total amount in the shopping basket.

would you rather not redeem the gift card?

click on the 'x' at the bottom right of the price breakdown to undo the operation. however, please note that this is only possible as long as you have not clicked on 'buy now'.

what happens to my gift card following a return?

this will depend on how you used your gift card:

did you pay for your order in full using a gift card?

in this case, it will be added back to your gift card total on your zalando account. you can use it for your next order against eligible items. you can check your current available amount at any time under "gift cards".

did you pay for your order by combining a gift card with a different payment method?

the gift card is valid for fashion items.

when you return one or more of these items, you will be refunded to the other payment method selected at checkout when you placed the order. for example, if you used a credit card as well as a gift card, you will be refunded to your credit card and the gift card will be applied to the kept fashion items.

did you pay for your order via invoice and gift card?

if you used your gift card for valid fashion items against part of your order, and selected invoice payment for the remaining amount, and you return an item, the open amount on the invoice will be reduced if the gift card amount is larger than the open amount on your invoice, you will be refunded to your gift card total.
